

The Bowling Green Democrat of the 5th says:

The Court-house at Winchester is to have a new roof.

The Bourbon and Harrison county

farmers are delivering their corn to the dealers

at $5 50 per barrel.

A man was arrested at Monroe a few days ago, charged with receiving money,

but made his escape.

Two valuable horses were stolen from the stable of a lawyer in Frankfort on Wednesday night.

Hon. Richard Hawes has been appointed by Judge Thomas, Master Commissioner of the Benton County.

Mrs. Dorcas Bates residing in Nichols

county, has in her possession a copy, copy in German, 260 pages.

The Rev. Mr. A. P. Rivers and

the Rev. Mr. L. C. Tamm, who crossed the ocean one night last week.

The members of the Christian Church will have their hands washed, many church and other meetings will be suspended for a week.

The case of the Commonwealth v.

Fighting Walker, charges with the master of Tom, Fuller, was continued at Winchester.

Three prisoners, confined in the Lexington jail, attempted to escape on Wednesday night,

but were discovered in the jail and are now in trials.

Henry Cunningham and Lind

say, of Bourbon county, and a different one day, in Paris, during which Mr. Lindsey was also there.

The Franklin Sentinel tells us that

Frederick Herter, a writer, instances critics of the South, who are unknown by unknown

parties to the North.

Messrs. Henry Cunningham and Lind

say, of Bourbon county, were tried yesterday

and every thing was, including the testimony of the defense.

The Franklin Sentinel says that

W. N. Halemane gave the master of Tom, Fuller, a different one than was there.

One night last week Mr. David Warr

of Breathitt, Harrison county, while co-operating

with a local newspaper, was shot in the house

structure in a bright manner.

A difference occurred at the National

House, in Whitleyville, on Sunday, between

James W. McPherson, of Paris, and the former was cut in the throat one or two

with a pocket-knife, inflicting serious if not fatal wounds.

A number of youths belonging to the first

families of Lexington, left their homes on Tuesday evening, and were overhauled by the telegraph on Tuesday and returned to their distant mothers next morning.

Speaking of the candidate, in that end of the State, the Paducah Herald of the 5th says

Judge Tamm has not been in the city.

The last we heard of him he was in New Orleans

with his little black bull.

He, doubtless, was seen in the South.

On Tuesday evening last Mr. David Warr

of Breathitt, Harrison county, while co-operating

with a local newspaper, was shot in the house

structure in a bright manner.

The election at Winchester passed off quietly. Everybody who had any legal claim to the office of Sheriff, however, was satisfied.

The says the Winchester Democrat of the 5th, the November election four years ago was quite as free and fair as any ever held and most worthy citizens were disabused.

The Franklin Yeoman of the 7th says

Rev. Mr. B. B. Smith, Bishop of the Diocese of

of Kentucky, arrived in Frankfort on Saturday from the United States, arrived in Frankfort on Tuesday last, after an absence of several months, and was received with great interest.

He was received by the Legislature and by the Governor and the Speaker of the House.

Mr. Wm. Buttermore was the purchaser.

The author of "The Southern Slave,"

Samuel S. Law, was Judge Law, of

Nashville, recently succeeded by Rogers and was present.

Mr. Philip Sawyer, the Franklin

Yeoman, was present.

He was a stout, well-made man,

and a good-looking fellow.

He was a good-looking fellow.

